Himalayan Salt Lamps – What are they?

They are salts that are manually and laboriously mined at the foothills of the Himalayan Mountains. They come into different colors from dark pink, light orange to white or translucent color. Then they are hollowed out to form a lamp so you can place a candle or light bulb inside. As the light glows through the organic Himalayan Salt Lamp, it casts a soothing relaxing soft glow. This makes it perfect for mood lighting or a night light. One of the great benefits of having a Himalayan salt lamp is that once they are warmed, they filter the air with negative ions, transforming the polluting positive ions into neutral elements for cleaner air so that we can breathe air that is clean and dust free.

Many have claimed that after they have bought and put their lamps inside their homes, it helped tremendously in reducing or eliminating symptoms of allergy and other chronic breathing problems. The air smells fresher, cleaner and has a sense of relaxation. Pet odors, food odors and cigarettes appear to disappeared, and people feel light without feeling any stress.

Modified water molecules evaporate off a salt lamp as it is being warmed by an incandescent globe inside the lamp. When you buy these lamps, the weight is quoted in specific size ranges. Since the lamps come from nature they will vary in color and grain and each lamp will have their own personality.
